Resilience and Joy in Post-Pandemic Teaching

Flower Darby

REMOTE PRESENTATION

9:00 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.

LIVE WATCH PARTY LOCATIONS

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS A167

RAMPART CAMPUS E109

The Covid-19 pandemic required us to teach in new formats, engaging students in new ways to help them learn. While at times challenging, our collective experience has shown that we're willing and able to adapt our teaching methods to overcome such challenges. We'll reflect on what we've learned in this season while exploring how the approaches we've gained only strengthen our practice, no matter what format we're teaching in. We'll remind ourselves that we can create rewarding teaching and learning interactions that welcome and support today's students, providing both flexibility and rigor for all. And we'll explore practical strategies for every class, tips that work across the disciplines, modalities, and class sizes, to rediscover our joy and once again find our teaching fizz.

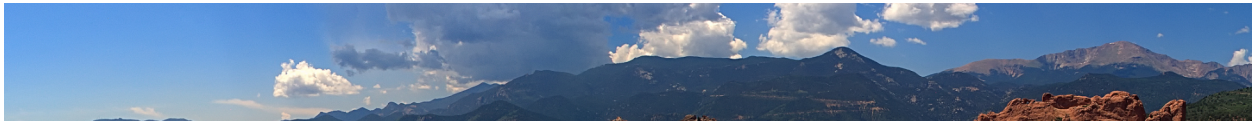

About Flower Darby

Flower Darby celebrates and promotes effective teaching in all class formats to include, welcome, and support all students as they learn and succeed. As faculty and an instructional designer, she's taught community college and university classes for over 24 years in a range of subjects including English, Technology, Leadership, Dance, and Pilates. A seasoned face-to-face and online educator, Darby loves to apply learning science across the disciplines, and to help others do the same.

Flower speaks, writes, presents, and consults on teaching and learning theory and practice both nationally and internationally. She has helped educators all over the world become more effective in their work. She is the author, with James M. Lang, of Small Teaching Online: Applying Learning Science in Online Classes, and she's a columnist for the Chronicle of Higher Education. Her new book on emotion science and teaching with technology is forthcoming from West Virginia University Press.

Fall 2022

August 22- 26, 2022

Tuesday, August 23 All Things PPSC

11:00-12:00

What You Need to Know About Prior Learning Assessment (PLA)

A221

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Gary Walker

Join Gary Walker to learn about Prior Learning Assessment (PLA)! Through brainstorming and hands-on exercises, you will receive an overview of PPSC's PLA process, learn about efforts to make PLA more accessible and equitable, explore the effects PLA has on student persistence and completion, and gain a greater understanding of relevant legislation. By learning about the different types of PLA students seek, you will gain ideas of how to help students consider their options. You will have access to longitudinal, well-researched data that supports the value of PLA and brings to light some of the equity issues we want to address.

11:00-12:00

Grow Class Enrollment Through Engaging Marketing

REMOTE

REMOTE WORKSHOP

Jenna Shearn

Want to fill the empty seats in your classroom? Have a new course offering you'd like to promote? Come learn how to build a poster with proper use of typography, create persuasive advertisements, and how best to display important marketing material. Through hands-on activity, you will have the tools to create your own web and poster design to market your course.

11:00-12:00

Build a Class

A222

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Tierra Martinez and Vicki Pemberton

This workshop is specially designed for Deans, Associate Deans, Admins, and Chairs. Walk away with a clear understanding of all things scheduling. Come learn all about schedule extractions, how your changes affect section numbers, how to search for available rooms, forms such as class building logs, class supplemental requests, and independent study requests. We will work through a few examples and give you an opportunity to submit a request using one of our forms. This is designed to be an interactive conversation; come with questions!

11:00-12:00

Admissions Counseling Initiative

A224

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Kevin Hudgens and Jennifer Morrison

Would you like to know more about the new Admissions Counseling initiative, and how it impacts new students at PPSC? Come meet some of the people who have the first interactions with new students when they are admitted. We'll cover the new proactive case management model of admissions counseling and the topics covered with new students to help them through the enrollment process and prepare them for their first semester at PPSC. We'll also have a roundtable discussion and brainstorming, so that we can learn what you need us to share with students entering your specific academic program.

Professional Development Week

Fall 2022

August 22- 26, 2022

Tuesday, August 23 All Things PPSC

11:00-12:00 Keynote + HIPs: Practical Application Session A226
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS
HIPS Faculty

Join the High Impact Practices (HIPs) team to discuss what we all learned from Flower Darby's session and explore practical application in the classroom. This session will connect PPSCs HIPs programming to the keynote speaker.

1:00-2:00 Student Services Communication - Engaging with Students
Throughout the Enrollment Funnel A221
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS
Kevin Hudgens, Krissy Trujillo

If you have ever wondered "What are students receiving from PPSC?", or "How do students know about X?", this session is for you. Student Services continually works on improving communication with prospective students and applicants and has developed detailed communication plans that provide timely and relevant information to students. We'll be asking for your input about what kind of "special" information would be ideal to share relating to your discipline, and an exercise in which you will work through a segmented communication plan for your department.

1:00-2:00 Things You Should Never Tell a
VA or TA Benefit Using Student... A222
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS
Paul DeCecco, Gail Bicknell, Bob Newcomb, Sydney Stockmoe, et. al.

Have you ever wondered what happens if an MVP student withdraws from a class? What you should do if an active-duty soldier deploys while they are in your class? Since over 25% of our student body is affiliated with the military and veteran population, we want to ensure that faculty and staff are best prepared to assist those students. In this workshop, you will learn the answers to the most frequently asked questions and the most important information you may need to know to help students who are using Military/Veteran education benefits. The workshop will also feature a panel discussion with staff members from each section of the Department of Military and Veterans Programs.

1:00-2:00 New to HIPs: Communities of Practice A224
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Hands-on your HIPs! Get started designing a HIPs assignment. Practical tips so you feel confident about delivering a High Impact learning experience to your students.

1:00-2:00 Specific HIPs Practices REMOTE
REMOTE

Already using High Impact Practices? Come learn some of the best practices undergraduate research, and service learning. What are some specific project ideas? How do you best incorporate it into your new or existing online course?

Professional Development Week

Fall 2022

August 22- 26, 2022

Tuesday, August 23 All Things PPSC

1:00-2:00 BIT by BIT: Understanding the Reporting Process A226
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS
The BIT Team

This workshop will give attendees an opportunity to better understand how the Behavioral Intervention Team (BIT) can support them in the classroom. Attendees will engage in presenter-led scenarios that will help them to discern how, when, and why to make a report to the BIT. We will work through scenarios to better understand where to refer cases. Attendees will have the opportunity to apply their present knowledge of classroom concerns with best practices of the BIT.

1:00-2:00 An Introduction to the Updated Code of Conduct A260B
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS
Nichole Pritchett Hilliard and Ali Takkunen

Anyone who interacts with students in and outside of the classroom needs to know how the Code of Conduct supports learning and safety in the classroom and campus community. The student code of conduct has been updated. In this session you will learn about those updates, the reporting process, participate in code of conduct scenarios, think about what to consider when making a report, and gain confidence in speaking with students about the code of conduct.

2:30-3:00 Promoting Advancement and Growth for Educators (PAGE) A221
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS INFOBITE
Katie Wheeler

This bite-sized workshop is for part-time instructors at PPSC who want to learn how to increase their pay tier through professional development. Instructors will learn the benefits of joining Promoting Advancement and Growth for Educators (PAGE), how to get involved, and where to look for additional information. A handout with each pay tier and professional development expectations for each tier will be available.

2:30-3:00 Support for English Language Learners REMOTE
REMOTE INFOBITE
Andy Likins and Margaret Cordova

You will learn what assistance is available and acquire strategies for supporting English Language Learners (ELLs) in your classes. There will be time for you to get answers to questions you might have about specific situations relating to supporting ELLs. A handout will be provided giving practical ways to help ELLs be successful at PPSC.

Professional Development Week

Fall 2022

August 22- 26, 2022

Tuesday, August 23 All Things PPSC

2:30-3:00 TRIO Student Support Services: A Key to Student Success REMOTE
REMOTE INFOBITE
Kathie Keel

In this session, you will learn about TRIO Student Support Services, a PPSC resource that supports eligible students to succeed in their classes, graduate, and transfer to four-year colleges and universities through providing a variety of tutoring, advising, and mentoring services. As faculty, instructors, and advisors, you want to point your students to resources that will help them identify and reach their academic and career goals. At the conclusion of the workshop, you will be better informed about TRIO and how to direct your students to this valuable resource.

2:30-3:00 What The Name Change Means For The College A222
INFOBITE
Jim Mancall

We officially became Pikes Peak State College on August 22nd. Curious about the name change? Join Jim Mancall for an overview of the name change and what to expect.

2:30-3:00 When Do I Make Load? REMOTE
REMOTE INFOBITE
Tierra Martinez and Vicki Pemberton

Learn how the Faculty Leave and Compensation (FLAC) team organizes classes and assignments so you understand when load is met and overload is paid. This InfoBite is designed to be an interactive conversation; come with questions!

2:30-3:30 What Everyone Ought to Know About IT for a Smooth Term A224
CENTENNIAL CAMPUS
Carl Ellis and Robert Willis

The IT Department will cover multiple topics and will share tidbits of information: how to request IT help and what to expect; what are some recent and upcoming IT-related changes; tips, techniques, and gotchas for the use of technology in the classroom; and at the end there will be some time for Questions & Answers. Please Note that this is a full 1-hour workshop!

Is this Accommodation a Fundamental Alteration of Your Course? Let's Find Out.

REMOTE

REMOTE WORKSHOP

Kate Buckhorn, Robin Eckelberry, Laci Satterfield, Jessica Starkie, Maria Mesa

Have you ever questioned whether a student accommodation was really reasonable? We in Student Accessibility Services (AS) have a simple collaborative process to determine if any accommodation is or is not reasonable to provide in your course. We will present scenarios of unique accommodation requests and go through the Fundamental Alterations process, which we use to determine an accommodation's reasonableness. We will also describe alternative strategies you can use if a requested accommodation is determined not to be justifiably reasonable for your classroom or curriculum.

Education is the premise of progress,

A222

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Kandy Ruiz

Everyone has a life outside the classroom. Attend this workshop to learn about the tools used by Single Stop to determine eligibility for human services programs, and to learn how to assist students in mitigating non-academic, basic need insecurities. We'll give an overview of services and resources available to students both on-and off-campus. You will get to walk through the Single Stop application process, which will help prepare you for proactive conversations with students who need additional support to persist and complete at PPSC. Through small-group discussions, we'll explore non-academic barriers students have shared. You'll leave empowered to describe the application process for Single Stop, identify the Single Stop Coordinator, and name at least one resource to which students may connect via Single Stop.

Fall Book Club Kickoff

A221

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS
Kristy Callihan and Katie Wheeler

CETL's fall book club will be on Student Engagement Techniques by Elizabeth F. Barkley. In three to four meetings over the course of the semester we will read, discuss, and apply what we learn about engagement techniques in the classroom. Book clubs might be in-person or remote. In this initial meeting we will select the best days and times for book clubs, organize book club leaders, and receive copies of the book.

Student Engagement Techniques is a comprehensive resource that offers college teachers a dynamic model for engaging students and includes over one hundred tips, strategies, and techniques that have been proven to help teachers from a wide variety of disciplines and institutions motivate and connect with their students.

“

Tell me and I forget.
Teach me and I remember.
Involve me and I learn.

Your Brain on Exercise

A222

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Carolyn Owen

Movement and exercise can enhance the learning capabilities of students. Fortunately, PPSC has the resources to facilitate this. You will learn about how the brain's physiology changes with activity. Learn small ways to implement movement in the classroom which will cause little disruption and high effectiveness. The workshop includes a tour of CC campus to see areas of availability for exercise, small group discussion, as well as some examples of movement you can use in the classroom.

9:30-10:30

What's for Lunch?

REMOTE

REMOTE WORKSHOP

Andrea Ulrich

Explore the factors that influence your food choices, discover the benefits of mindful eating, and build satisfying lunches for the office. Join Andrea for healthy lunch ideas and meal prep tips that will help you:

- Identify personal factors that influence food choices
- Rate hunger/satiety on a scale
- Build a lunch using strategies from the workshop
- Connect to signs of hunger/satiety
- Learn new and appealing lunch ideas
- Develop an improved relationship with food

Yoga

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Jessica Howard Karr

Yoga is an ancient and complex practice, rooted in Indian philosophy. It began as a spiritual practice but has become popular as a way of promoting physical and mental well-being. Although classical yoga also includes other elements, yoga as practiced in the United States typically emphasizes physical postures (asanas), breathing techniques (pranayama), and meditation (dyana). Join us as we breathe through some simple and dynamic poses. Please bring a yoga mat and comfy clothes.

1:00-2:00

Tai Chi

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

Derek Blanton

Tai Chi involves a series of movements performed in a slow, focused manner and accompanied by deep breathing. Tai chi, also called tai chi chuan, is a noncompetitive, self-paced system of gentle physical exercise and stretching. Each posture flows into the next without pause, ensuring that your body is in constant motion. Wear comfy clothes.

Friday, August 26 Miscellaneous Events

8:30-10:00 Q&A With Dr. Bolton W101/102
Dr. Bolton
Rampart Range Campus

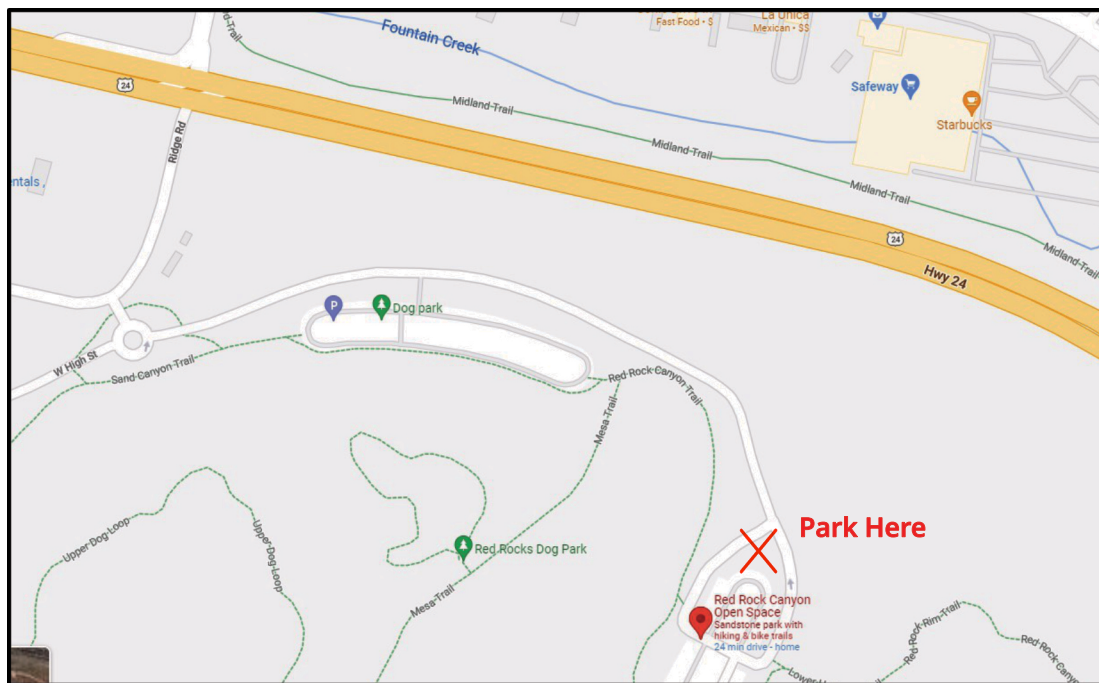

The Q&A is an opportunity to ask Dr. Bolton questions about what's happening at the college, policies, announcements, building projects, programs, and other topics. This session is also a great opportunity to hear about questions others around campus have before the academic year begins.

1:00-2:00 Geology Field Trip OFFSITE
RED ROCK CANYON OPEN SPACE
Mark Izold

The attendees will help to identify features in the rock to make interpretation of strata found in the park. We will engage in an exercise in park sustainability; an exercise involving conservation and the parks, including Red Rock Canyon: and an exercise in conservation and use. Please gather at the location of the red X in the map below.

2:30-4:00 Walk-n-Talk with Dr. Bolton OFFSITE
RED ROCK CANYON OPEN SPACE

A relaxing easy walk-and-talk at a beautiful location with our illustrious president to cap off your PDW week. Please gather at the location of the red X in the map below.

CETL and PDW

Q: Where do I find the links for remote sessions?

A: During PDW make sure you check your e-mail regularly. CETL will send out an email the Friday before PDW and each day of PDW with updates, links, and changes. You will also be able to find this information at the welcome tables. There is one link for all remote sessions (aside from the keynote and the President's address). If you struggle to find the link, please e-mail cetl.ppcc@ppcc.edu.

Zoom Link for All REMOTE Sessions

Q: Why does professional development week take place at Centennial Campus?

A: We are running a conference, which is difficult to do at two sites. Please come on down to Centennial Campus where you'll find workstations and spaces to work. If you cannot make it to Centennial Campus we offer a variety of remote session options.

Q: Why aren't there more training opportunities in the evenings?

A: Some department trainings and activities occur during the evenings of PDW. We understand that attending during the day is not convenient for everyone, which is why we record as many of our sessions as possible. These recordings are available in the CETL Library Guide after PDW.

Q: Why do you have some of the same workshops every semester? Can't they all be new?

A: We have new hires each semester that need specific workshops. Every semester you'll find a variety of repeat topics and new sessions. We try not to put all of the repeats at the same time, so that you always have a new option to choose from during the scheduled time for workshops.

Q: How do I get involved in CETL?

A: If you love talking about teaching, classroom tips, lecture ideas, great books on teaching, and everything else related to the higher education classroom, then we need your voice! CETL committee members offer vital feedback on professional development speakers, workshops, books, and sessions. CETL committee members make all the difference in the world while volunteering for events. Fill out the application on the CETL LibGuide (link at the bottom of the page) today!

Q: I'm a part-time instructor: how do I get involved in Promoting Advancement and Growth for Educators (PAGE)?

A: CETL's Promoting Advancement and Growth for Educators (PAGE) program supports the professional development of Pikes Peak Community College instructors. Earn professional development units as you attend pedagogy (teaching) based workshops and trainings. Learn more at the CETL Library Guide under the "PAGE" tab.
